Saint Paul, Maternity of the Blessed Virgin Mary
June 24, 2008

A photograph of a modern organ console in a church. The console is constructed from dark wood and features a large, illuminated blue panel on its right side. The organ pipes are white and arranged in a stepped, fan-like pattern. The console is set against a wall of light-colored stone tiles. A metal railing is visible in the foreground, and a small light fixture is mounted on the wall below the console. The overall atmosphere is modern and architectural.
